

Now in its 9th year, Gehring Dancetheatre's Summer Dance Intensive is geared towards serious students focused on a professional career in dance. By giving students the opportunity to work alongside and with professional dancers, the students receive individual attention as well as an inside look into the world of dance and the skills needed to be a successful dancer.

When Heather Gehring began Gehring Dancetheatre in 2003, she envisioned a unique company of technically proficient, strong dancers who were versatile in body and mind. This is achieved in part by encouraging an appreciation of all dance forms as potential venues for self discovery and expression. Each dancer in the company has classical training in ballet as well as special training in various movement styles including hip-hop, ballroom, acrobatics, swing, lyrical, and tango. Gehring Dancetheatre's choreography is contemporary with strong elements of acrobatics and partnering.

The School of the Garden State Ballet has, for over 60 years, been recognized for quality and excellence in training. Students of all levels can enjoy the physical and artistic benefits of training under a staff of dedicated teachers who are interested in the individual development of each student whether in pursuit of a professional career or a healthful and enriching exercise program.

"I honestly enjoyed all parts of [the] intensive because I got a chance to expand my knowledge on dancing."

-Jordan, Age 14

"My favorite performance piece was the modern piece because I like the shapes, formations, and I like modern."

-Hallie, Age 12
